

Forum focus on culture of preventing fires

A CONFERENCE, titled 'Explore the future of fire and safety', was hosted by Lichfield Fire and Safety Equipment FZE (LIFECO) in partnership with Almoayyed Air Conditioning at Downtown Rotana, Manama yesterday.

Latest advancements in fire protection technologies, innovative solutions and best practices to enhance fire safety in Bahrain were in the spotlight.

A distinguished group of consultants and business leaders discussed new solutions in fire protection management and prevention.

"The conference provided a valuable opportunity to exchange knowledge and expertise, reflecting our ongoing commitment to enhancing safety standards across various projects," said a joint spokesperson.

A LIFECO statement said that a joint co-operation agreement between it and Almoayyed Air Conditioning, the distributor of fire and safety equipment in Bahrain, reinforces its commitment to deliver advanced fire protection solutions.

"This strategic partnership aims to elevate safety standards in industrial and commercial projects by providing pioneering equipment and advanced fire protection systems" it said.

"The agreement seeks to achieve the highest levels of safety and efficiency in project execution, aligning with shared values and core commitments to safety and quality standards in Bahrain."

A joint statement stated: "This collaboration reflects both companies' dedication to supporting the local economy and fostering sustainable development by providing innovative solutions that meet the highest standards and support the long-term sustainability of projects."

Through this partnership, both companies aim to deliver comprehensive and advanced solutions, granting access to the latest technologies and high-efficiency equipment.

The agreement will contribute to improving safety standards, reducing accident risks, and enhancing the competitiveness of projects in the region.

■ Almoayyed Air Conditioning director and chief executive M T Mathew, third from left, and LIFECO regional sales director Ruba Abushawish, third from right, with other company representatives and officials during the signing of the fire safety co-operation agreement

■ Dr Sahadulla, left, and other participants during the panel discussion

Patient safety in spotlight at expert panel discussion

A PANEL discussion on patient safety was hosted by KIMSHEALTH to mark the World Health Organisation's World Patient Safety Day, observed globally on September 17.

The session, under the theme 'Improving Diagnosis for Patient Safety' was moderated by group chief executive Dr Sheriff Sahadulla and speakers included General Surgery consultant Dr Stephen Angamuthu, Internal Medicine specialists Dr Hajira

Begum and Dr Ravi Srinivasan and Obstetrics and Gynaecology consultant Dr Nailah Nisar.

The discussion, at KIMSHEALTH auditorium in Umm Al Hassam, focused on patient examination, identifying appropriate, cost-effective diagnostic investigations, practising a multi-disciplinary approach, how biases can affect decision-making and why effective communication is paramount to patient safety.

Do you have HVAC issues?

UNIT IS NOISY
DURING USE

UNIT BLOWS
HOT AIR

THERMOSTAT IS NOT WORKING

HIGH UTILITY
BILLS

KEEP CALM and CALL US
7770 1741
Our new HVAC Service Hotline

Mobile Hotline:

Yathiraj | 3941 5594

f i yka.buildingsystems in ykabuildingsystems

YKA
أنظمة الصناعة والبناء
Industrial & Building Systems since 1940